Council declares '97 census figures

Elk Point now has an official nose count of 1492 people. The results of the 1997 census were declared at Council's July 14 regular meeting.

Two newcomers were welcomed to the Council table. New councillor Walter Lesyk was sworn in by Mayor Ed Buck, and a bylaw was given all three readings to appoint Myron Goyan as the new Town Manager. Goyan was later appointed Development Officer, while Lesyk was given the committee portfolios originally handled by former councillor Dan Povaschuk, with the exception of Council's representative to the Chamber of Commerce, which will be taken over by councillor Louis Verhagen. Verhagen was excused from Council meetings between August 13 and October 3.

Sgt. Peter Sherstan of the Elk Point RCMP visited Council to relate recent statistics of the detachment.

Lillian Palinka of the Pioneer Circle also attended the meeting to present a request for forgiveness of the municipal portion of the taxes on the Seniors Recreation Centre. No decision has yet been made on this matter.

Traffic bylaw 581/97, which pertains to streets, sidewalks, parking, etc. was given its final reading.

The Alberta Power franchise was tabled.

A court of revision for property value assessment was set for August 11 at 4 p.m. in the Town Office.

The contract for upgrading of the town's sewage lagoon was awarded to Maple Reinders Inc. of Edmonton. The project's cost will be $356,530.

Blue Flame Contracting of Bonnyville was given the go-ahead for paving patches totalling $12,800 in value.

Pavement overlay on Circle Drive and on 53rd Street from 48th Ave. to 50th Ave. will cost the Town an estimated $57,000.

Paving of the parking lot at the A. G. Ross Arena, as well as pavement overlays on 47th Street from 57th to 51st Avenues, 46th Street from 54th to 50th Avenues and 50th Avenue from 48th to 45th Streets, will be done by Shamrock Valley Enterprises at a cost of $22,500. Mayor Buck and Public Works Superintendent Ron Fraess plan to investigate the possibility of purchasing a new street sweeper. Fraess was approved to attend a public works convention in Red Deer in September.

A five year capital budget is scheduled to be prepared by the Town Manager.

Elk Point Golf and Country Club will be forgiven their 1996 rental fee. They were also given approval in concept for construction of a driving range and soccer pitch at the Recreation Park, subject to approval of their plans.

Council also held a special meeting on July 21 to discuss development of 45th Street. They agreed to extend services on 54th Avenue to serve Reid's Welding on a frontage cost basis, and moved that Reid's will be required to agree to pay their part of frontage costs for street development.

A motion was approved at that meeting which will require all lots in the town of Elk Point to be serviced individually.

Council plans to meet with the County of St. Paul in the near future regarding land rezoning, and also hope to meet with Canada Post regarding postal service.

SUBDIVISION FILLING UP -- Elk Point's mobile home subdivision, built during the oil boom of the early 1980s, is finally filling up, as new families arrive in the community to work in the many jobs created by recent oil industry expansion.

White Sox go to the big show

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Minor Ball

For the first time in recent history, Elk Point is sending a boys' baseball team to the World Series of minor ball, the provincial final, with the midget White Sox going to Consort on the August 1 long weekend, to compete against the top eight teams in the province. After playing three weekend round robins and ten games against some of the best teams in the province, the Sox squeaked into the eighth and final playoff spot.

Two weekends ago Elk Point hosted for the first time a provincial round robin on the newly completed midget diamond. The weather was perfect, the ground crew had the field in excellent shape, but the boys had trouble waking up for the two 9 a.m. games, or maybe it was the pressure of playing at home? Baseball is a game of errors. Sometimes one error can cost you the game. This time there were lots of errors, and the Sox lost to Legal on Saturday morning and to Rimbey Sunday morning.

The most important game was Saturday night, against Clyde, the team that held the eighth playoff spot the previous week, and the Sox finally came to play. Down early by five runs in the first inning, the Sox replaced starting pitcher Jordan Bassett with Tyler Warawa, who pitched his best game of the season, and allowed only one hit and one run, while striking out seven batters in six innings. Although Jordan had a rough time pitching, he made up for it at the plate when he crushed the ball for his second home run in provincial play, driving in three runs. The final score, 9 to 6, put the boys one point ahead of Clyde and into the provincial finals in Consort.

Weeded down from eighteen teams at the start of round robins, the other teams in the provincial final are Acme, Armena, Strome, Legal, Rimbey, High Prairie and Consort. The Sox are going in as underdogs, but anything can happen when it comes to baseball. A hot pitcher, some big hits, a few fumbles, some overthrows and who knows? Good luck this weekend, boys!

Oil brings new families to Elk Point

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Our small farming community based town of Elk Point, for the last several years has been adjusting to the impact of the expanding oil development in our area. The most recent growth, during the last year, has opened up employment to many people from other provinces of Canada. At first, our community was able to welcome individuals who took advantage of the oil field employment. Now that summer is here and school is out, families have and are arriving in Elk Point.

On behalf of the community of Elk Point, please accept our friendly welcome to you. We hope you will learn to love this area just as the rest of who have lived here do. If there is anything we can do to help you learn about our community, just give our office a call at 724-3800.

Speaking of oil, I am reminded that Alberta is celebrating 50 years of oil. It was 50 years ago that 500 curious onlookers witnessed Leduc No. 1 roaring to life, bringing black gold and high hopes to a struggling community. Imperial Oil, the company that drilled Leduc No. 1, marked the 50th anniversary with an on-site ceremony February 13, but the big celebration, "Homecoming '97" will be celebrated the long weekend in August (August 2-4). Numerous activities are planned on the Leduc No. 1 discovery site, Highway 60, near Devon. "This is a fun weekend. People can come and see what oil technology was like then and what it is like now. It is living history," says Marilyn Morrison, vice-chair of the Leduc / Devon Oilfield Historical Society.

If you want to learn more about the oil development in the Elk Point area, you can refer to the excellent coverage that this paper did in the May 13, 1997 edition.

Yes, just as the first oil discovery 50 years ago made a difference to the communities of Leduc and Devon, oil development in the Elk Point area has made a difference to our community of Elk Point. The oil-related companies have not only brought employment to the community, they have also supported many community events and projects which have all helped to make Elk Point a better place to live in for everyone. A big thank you to all the oil-related companies.

To all the new people who have come to Elk Point from any place in Canada (or anywhere else) — a BIG FRIENDLY ELK POINT WELCOME!

TIC talk

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

It is now about mid-way through our tourist season. According to statistics we have had a similar number of people stopping for information at the TIC as last year, taking into consideration that we opened two weeks later this year. The one statistic that has changed substantially from last year is that 33% of our visitors are from Elk Point, compared to 26% last year and 20% the year before. The one good thing about these numbers is that most of these people were looking for Elk Point and area information rather than out of province accommodations and attractions. For instance, we handed out way fewer brochures on Saskatchewan this year than any other year. (Maybe because we HAD way fewer brochures — everybody's got cutbacks.)

While every year we seem to have fewer tourists from the United States, we have had visitors from other countries — like Germany and France. And more people from the Maritimes, most notably Nova Scotia, and from Quebec and Ontario have visited the TIC this year than we have ever had.

Here we have some of the most beautiful lakes and campgrounds you'll find anywhere and the amount of trailer and camper traffic reflects this. It also helps that the weather is a little more cooperative and water levels are up from what they have been the past few years. Fishing has not been all that great and fishing regulations are a bit complicated this year with nearly every lake having different limits or restrictions, so make sure you have a copy of the 1997 Alberta Guide to Sportfishing Regulations. We still have a few copies at the TIC so please stop and pick one up if you are planning on doing any fishing.

For those of you who like them, we will have a complete set of statistics at the end of the season. For those of you who don't, we'll try to round up a fishing or golfing joke or something for you.

Coping with reactive hypoglycemia

By Shelley Miller-Hertes

Registered Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Hypoglycemia is a symptom of disordered carbohydrate metabolism. Typical symptoms include sweating, weakness, hunger, tachycardia and trembling. Hypoglycemia occurs 2 to 5 hours after the intake of food, especially carbohydrates. Medically, it is called reactive postprandial hypoglycemia because it occurs after eating.

The basic principles of treating hypoglycemia focus on slowing the quick absorption and utilization of carbohydrates. This quick absorption of glucose stimulates the pancreas to secrete insulin and move glucose out of the blood. A diet rich in complex carbohydrates, fiber and protein slows the release of glucose into the blood stream, causing less stimulation of insulin secretion.

Five or six small meals a day is recommended. Including some protein and fiber in each meal slows down glucose metabolism and help maintain blood glucose at a normal level. Concentrated sweets should be avoided. Fruits, vegetables, breads, cereals and potatoes should provide the carbohydrate in the diet. Alcohol can potenti-ate hypoglycemia by blocking gluconeogenesis, and therefore should be omitted or restricted to one drink per day. Caffeine should also be omitted, as it affects blood glucose levels through epinephrine stimulation.

Weather or not, we have fun READiscovering

By Karina Mitchell
READiscover coordinator

Night of the Twisters by Ivy Ruckman was the start of our Weather or Not week at the Summer Reading Program as we looked at the science of weather. Thankfully, it was just a story. It was a warm day for both sessions without the rain that had been threatening our skies.

On Thursday, Weather or Not was almost not! We made sundials but without the sun, we were not able to label the hours. It is also hard to make a rainbow out of a baking pan full of water without a bright sun to capture the colors from. But we did create wind and rain in the library.

Tuesday's group explored the same weather concepts and got to put a few into practice. Using not-so-scientific methods, we had a wonderful snow fight by throwing crumpled up paper at each other. Then the children colored and pasted paper grocery bags, turning them into kites to catch the wind with. If you drove by the library last Tuesday afternoon, you would have seen their colorful creations in action.

What's news at the library?

READiscover heating up, hot stories for hot weather reading

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

I have been hearing things from other librarians and it appears that the READiscover Summer Reading Program is a big hit everywhere. Here in Elk Point it has caused quite a stir. This past week involved water games and on Tuesday several kids violated my third rule of storytime (no nudity). They also caused me to say something I never expected to say in the library: "Is anyone here missing any panties?"

As you can see, things are heating up at the library.

One of the hottest stories to hit the news lately concerns gold and other valuables that were confiscated from Jews by the Nazis during the Third Reich. Nazi Gold by Tom Bower exposes what many people believe was a conspiracy by Swiss bankers to steal deposits made by European Jews and help the Nazis hide the fortune looted from Jewish victims of the Holocaust. This is an especially timely book given recent revelations that the Bank of Canada may have had some involvement with Nazi loot.

For those who want something a little less topical, we have these recent arrivals in fiction:

A couple, linked by the marriage of their children, become close when she unexpectedly becomes widowed in Special Delivery by Danielle Steel. Sign up on the reserve list for this one.

A condemned serial killer makes a confession to the policeman who put him away and suddenly the case is not as cut and dried as it seems in Detective by Arthur Hailey. Also on the reserve list.

A divorced and lonely woman becomes easy prey for a con man while her children seem bent on self-destruction in Songs in Ordinary Time by Mary McGarry Morris, an Oprah Book Club Selection.

And here are a few titles in our juvenile series:

Karen and her brother receive pet bunnies for Easter but the new pets are causing a lot of problems in Karen's Bunny from Baby-Sitters Little Sister.

Karen uses the phone so much that her parents lay out special rules for her in Karen's

Telephone Trouble from Baby-Sitters Little Sister.

Logan's parents want to send him away to boarding school and he and Mary Anne have to do something before it's too late in Mary Anne to the Rescue from the Baby-Sitters Club.

A trip on a special "mystery train" publicizing a new movie turns out to be more of an adventure than anyone bargained for in Kristy and the Mystery Train, a Baby-Sitters Club Mystery.

County celebrates 35 years, new shop

By Rhonda Noyce

St. Paul Journal

Hundreds of county residents and a stage full of local dignitaries celebrated a historical achievement for the County of St. Paul No. 19 last Wednesday. Not only did the County prove that it has successfully made it through the past 35 years, it also officially opened a new public works shop in style.

A stage and rows of tables were set up in a section of bays at the new shop, which was owned by Alberta Transportation before highway maintenance became privatized.

The public was greeted at the front doors with County hats and pins, as well as tours of the new facility. Pictures from the County days gone by were on display in the meeting room, as well as a sample of the county's new digitalized map.

Then everyone gathered at the tables in front of the stage where they listened to the County Council give a quick summary of the County and their long list of responsibilities.

Some guest dignitaries also gave their speeches, congratulating the County and their achievements over the past 35 years. Those dignitaries on hand included Leon Benoit, Lakeland MP; Juliet Langevin, representing her husband, MLA Paul Langevin; Bruce Willerton, vice president of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties; John Trefanenko, mayor of St. Paul; Ed Buck, mayor of Elk Point; and Shelley Dyck, trustee for the St. Paul Education Regional District No. 1.

The crowd was taken back to the early days of the County with memories supplied by former councillors, John Drobot and John Labant. They talked about the challenges the County faced back in the 1960s and how they are similar to the issues the present Council faces.

Then MP Leon Benoit talked about the future of municipal governments and the added responsibilities they are facing and will continue to face in the years to come.

"You will have even more responsibilities in the future which means it is more important for you, the people, to choose your councillors carefully," Benoit said to the councillors and the crowd.

After the speeches and congratulatory plaques were handed out to the County from local businesses and governments, the crowd moved on over to the supper line where councillors and County staff served up hot beef on a bun.

The remainder of the festivities included a large display of County equipment, old and new, complete with the price tags.

As Reeve Ray Danyluk reflected on the day's events he said he was proud of the way his staff handled the celebrations, and of the large turn-out.

"I'm also very happy with the shop and with the direction that this present Council has taken," Danyluk concluded.
